Some issues had with new windows updates

Several guys informed us when they try to use automatic updates on windows, it's getting detected as fake activation from time to time and they had to install kmspico again for reactivation. This happens because now they have developed their technology up to a very smart level to get prevented this kind of free activations, and we had to work a lot to overcome this issue.

We guarantee now you will never face these issues again because we also working on regular automatic updates on our tool parallel to every single update they publish asap.

Re appearance of "activate windows" notification

This is a side issue of the above-mentioned update thing, so this is also not a problem anymore.

Why virus guards detect KMSPico 11 as a threat?

Not only kmspico, but they also detect any other free activation tools as a virus for sure. This is only because virus guards detect as soon as anything trying to access or edit windows system files and registry. To activate windows and office suite kmspico has to do some necessary changes in the Windows registry and system files too.
